INDICATIONS

Is a good general tonic of value where dogs are listless and have little or no appetite.

Has a high liver extract content making it palatable and readily accepted.

Is an excellent source of energy — it contains a high percentage of glucose (%45) which provides a source of readily utilizable energy.

Provides the essential erythropoietic vitamins and minerals.

Contains folic acid combined with liver extract and vitamin B12, to assist the haematopoietic response.

Contains choline. Choline is involved in lipid metabolism. Its requirement is well recognised in all conditions predisposing to fatty infiltration of the liver, including malnutrition.
